Officials Try To Retrieve Copies Of Stevens Booklet

Ottawa Wants to Get Back All of 2,000 Copies of Pamphlet Giving Views of Minister of Trade on Commons Committee's Investigation of Business Methods

Stevens Surprised At "All This Fuss"

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Hon. H. H. Stevens today characterized the Ottawa strike over his recently issued "pamphlet" as "just an attempt to stir up trouble between Mr. Stevens and myself."

"There has been nothing unusual, at all," the federal minister of Trade and Commerce told an interviewer in Ottawa.

Stevens continued over the week-end with threats of court action against Mr. Stevens and the government by large Canadian firms mentioned in the pamphlet, which was a review of the investigation conducted by the Commons committee into buying and financial operations of large Canadian companies.

Stevens withdrew the pamphlet from publication and the origin of the booklet is under official investigation, while the government has been asked to retrieve 2,000 copies of the booklet.

Another 8,000 copies, reported ready for distribution, were ordered withdrawn by Premier Bennett.

"I do not know what all this fuss is about," Mr. Stevens said. "I am not a politician, and as far as I am concerned, I am not a politician."

Anglican Bishop of Montreal Says Quebec Prosecutors Wandering Afield

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 7.—A letter in which Bishop John C. Partridge, of the Church of England in Canada, deplores the "chance of attitude on the part of civil authorities" with regard to trials completed and still pending in connection with the alleged blasphemous utterances and writings in the hands of Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec to-day.

In the letter the bishop of the Montreal diocese, who is also Attorney-General of the province, says that he is "not at all in sympathy with the persecutions in this province."

"As you know," one section of the letter declares, "we English people value above all things our liberty of speech and the liberty of the press. We have suffered in the past to gain these advantages and we will maintain them even if we have to suffer imprisonment as our fathers did. Persecutions have ever proved disastrous in the end for the persecutors. We do not ask toleration of libel, or blasphemy, or blasphemy, but we do ask for one interpretation of the law."

In another part of the letter Bishop Partridge refers to two prosecutions for blasphemy, in one of which accused had been condemned and the other still pending before the courts.

"In neither case," he said, "has the accused spoken a word against God or His Son, Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. In the case of the one condemned I understand that criticism was made against certain occupants of the Pulpit. In the case of the other I understand that criticism was made against the Pulpit."

While the new relief agreement has not been signed on behalf of the province, it is apparently a matter of time before the details will be completed.

Com. Percy W. Nelles, Chief of Canada's Navy, Returns to Esquimaut

On his first official inspection visit to the West Coast naval headquarters at Esquimaut harbor, Commodore Percy W. Nelles, R.C.N., chief of staff of the Royal Canadian Navy arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon from Ottawa. He is accompanied by Mrs. Nelles.

Commodore Nelles has been head of Canada's navy since July 1, when he took over from Commander Walter Ross, who retired with the rank of rear-admiral. Commodore Nelles is the first Canadian to be head of the navy and the only officer to have the rank of captain in the Canadian navy.

The commodore declined to be interviewed following his arrival here. He will remain in Esquimaut for a few days before returning to Ottawa.

After leaving Esquimaut, Capt. Nelles went to England and in 1928 was senior naval officer at the Esquimaut Naval Barracks. He was one of the most popular naval heads ever to be stationed at Esquimaut and his many friends here are delighted to welcome him once again to the Coast.

Empire Pool, Wembley, Eng., Aug. 7.—Phyllis Dewar of Moose Jaw, Sask., became the Empire's queen free-style swimmer by winning the 400 yards event with a brilliant field that included Robert Pirie, Toronto, and George Burleigh, Hamilton.

A few minutes later, Noel Ryan, Australia, re-established his claim to supremacy over the Empire's male swimmers by winning the 440 yards event from a brilliant field that included Robert Pirie, Toronto, and George Burleigh, Hamilton.

Pirie was third and Larsen fourth in the final. Norman Wainwright, England, finished second place behind Ryan, who won the 1,500 and 440 yards championships at the 1930 games and retained both here. Pirie, Jamaica, was fifth, and Larsen, England, sixth.

Pirie started favorite to beat the Australian but Ryan was never in danger. He finished five yards ahead of Wainwright, who led Pirie by nearly seven yards. Larsen was another seven yards back.

Miss Dewar outdistanced her field in the quarter-mile final, beating the favored Jennie Macdonald, South Africa, ten yards ahead as she crawled up the pool.

England's scores surpassed other records. Godfrey Rampling ran the 440-yard dash in 48 seconds to lead Canada, Macdonald, and C. E. Dewar, England, to the top with Dewar, Rampling, and the Canadian's best three measuring 121 feet, 8 inches. Bob Walker, Vancouver, placed fourth, swimming 124 feet, 4 inches.

White City Stadium, London, Aug. 7.—Harold Webster, forty-year-old Canadian scoutmaster from Hamilton, Ont., won the classic marathon of the British Empire Games today in 2 hours 40 minutes 30 seconds. It marked one of the few times Webster had competed against an international field.

The Canadian runner, who ran Dave Komonen, North American champion, into the ground in the Dominion's trial grid early this morning, set up a new Empire Games record. The old mark of 1 hour 45 minutes, 45 seconds was established at Hamilton in 1926 by Percy Wright, Scotland.

Webster's triumph in the most glamorous of all athletic events clinched a brilliant track and field relay team for Canada today after Richard had topped up victory after victory. Hindenburg Funeral Is Simple Ceremony

Hitler Gives Eulogy as Body Laid to Rest, But Does Not Indicate Policies

Associated Press
Tannenberg, Germany, Aug. 7.—Germany buried the body of Paul von Hindenburg in a shrine it holds sacred to-day after Adolf Hitler in an emotional eulogy at the day had said the late President had "opened the door" to Nazism.

Brief and simple was the funeral. The old warrior-statesman had died, but thousands of uniformed men in a military atmosphere.

The body of the eighty-six-year-old was placed to rest in one of the shrines at the National War Memorial, erected on the scene of Hindenburg's success over the Russian army in 1914.

Thousands of mourners were present, but the entire nation was in mourning for the late President. The funeral was a simple ceremony.

Hitler, as yesterday at a memorial service of the Reichstag, eulogized in glowing terms the man whose power he took over, but he forgot to give any expected indications of his future plans.

POPE SCORES NAZI CHURCH

German National Religion Movement Lacks Common Sense, He Says

Associated Press
Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Aug. 7.—Pope Pius XI today made a severe attack on the German National Church movement during an audience granted twenty members of the German Catholic Youth Society.

Declaring the German National Church movement "lacks common sense," the Pope urged his listeners to "unite themselves to the Catholic Church, when they return to their country."

"In Germany there is a common confusion," said the Pope. "There is a confusion of names and terms as 'positive Christianity' and others used in Germany to apply to a new religion."

He said all good Catholics should remain faithful to the Holy See, then gave his blessing to the whole German people, expressing the hope "the people will convert the Catholic faith."

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 7.—With the words, "It seemed like a devil guided me," Billy Alston, thirteen-year-old, confessed to the state attorney's office today that he had slain Raymond Wyder, eleven of Auburn, Ill., with a shotgun, August 1.

"I knew the gun was loaded when I took it on the hill and when I shot Raymond Wyder, something got hold of me and made me pull the trigger," Billy Alston confessed.

State Attorney Greening quoted him as saying:

"Billy is locked up, accused by a physician, Jack Brown of Auburn, where Billy was visiting for the summer, of having shot Raymond because he had 'squealed' on a robbery in which Billy allegedly had a part."

Mrs. Ray Kanoff, Billy's mother, is expected to arrive to-day from London, Ontario.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—Forty-five million German men and women will vote in the plebiscite August 19 to confirm Adolf Hitler in his new post as Leader and Chancellor of the German Reich.

Voting lists of last November's plebiscite will be used again. The question submitted will be a plain paragraph on the ballot paper, bearing a copy of the letter Hitler wrote to the cabinet recommending that a law linking his position as Chancellor with that of succession to the late President Paul von Hindenburg should be submitted for approval by the people.

Then comes the question: "Do you German men and women approve the decision embodied in this law?"

Underneath the question are two circles. One headed "Ja" (yes), the other "Nein" (no). Those approving will make a cross in the circle under "Ja." Those against will make a cross under "Nein."

Special arrangements have been made for taking the vote of German women at sea on August 19. If necessary they may vote between August 9 and August 24 in any of seventeen listed ports.

Seattle, Aug. 7.—Federal Judge John C. Brown yesterday imposed penitentiary and road camp sentences on eight defendants in the Maxwell-Gates mail fraud case, after declaring he and Benjamin Gates would cut and mutilated the public of $60,000 by selling stock in an Oregon gold mine.

Max Gates, president of the Maxwell-Gates mail fraud firm, received a suspended sentence of a year and a day in the Federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, because of his poor health, but was ordered to leave the state and never again engage in the sale of securities in it.

Robert M. Brown was given a prison sentence of three years, Michael J. Michaelson two years, John L. Hedge, Benjamin Hamilton and Harry Levine a year and a day. R. E. Addison and Benjamin Rose were sentenced to serve ninety days in the Fort Leavenworth camp.

They were convicted of selling stock in a mine near Gold Hill, Oregon, by confusing clients as to their holdings and as to what purchases were being made. The government said they did not even hold a valid option on the Gold Hill Mine which would justify sale of stock in that property.

The defendants indicated they would appeal.

Cardross, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, Aug. 7.—The British drought is rapidly making this village the most popular spot in Scotland.

There is whiskey in its drinking water—and the drinking water is free.

While the town's water reservoir went dry from lack of rain, reserves were brought from other points in the great casks in which this region abounds. It abounds in them because they are used for maturing whiskey—the Scotch variety.

Local temperance organizations protested strenuously against having to drink water with a distinct highball flavor, but the village authorities answered that the water was perfectly safe.

COMMUNISTS IN CUBA CAMPAIGN

Associated Press
Havana, Aug. 7.—Communist manifestations were circulated to-day, the anniversary of Cuba's "Day of Manifestation," calling for a revolution and the establishment of a soviet government.

One year ago to-day twenty-three Cubans were killed when forces of General Machado, then President, fired on crowds prematurely celebrating Machado's downfall. Machado fled the palace five days later, August 12.

Three United States citizens, Frederick Wilson, Arthur B. Needham and "Colonel" Hoffman, are held in the principal prison on charges of selling arms to Cubans.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Aug. 7.—Fire destroyed Hillsborough Castle, seat of the Duke of Abercorn, Governor of Northern Ireland, to-day. It was out of Ulster's most historic spots.

After a two-hour battle at the castle, near Belfast, fire-fighting forces had from all available points brought the blaze under control, but by then the castle was only a shell.

Several had narrow escapes when the ceiling of the magnificent ballroom crashed in.

The Duke and Duchess of Abercorn were in London.

CANADIAN

SERVICE

During 1933, of 9,434,812 passengers carried, not a single life was lost on the Canadian National Railways trains through collision, derailment, or failure of equipment.

There is No Substitute for Safetyat Any Price.

It is easy to take for granted the safety of railway travel—easy, amid the excitement and pleasure of a holiday trip or in the commonplace run to and from business, to be oblivious to all the care and labour which go to make railway journeys the safest means of transportation in the world. Yet it should receive more than a passing thought, for it represents what is perhaps the greatest achievement of railroading.

To ensure the maximum of safety the highest demands are made on personnel and material. All operating employees must be in perfect physical condition and strict medical examinations are regularly made. They must further be skilled in their various occupations. In many passenger train crews will be found men who have spent more than twenty years in faithful service and have thereby acquired knowledge, resource, and dependability. The lessons which experience has taught are embodied in rules with which each operating employee is familiar, and in regard to which implicit obedience is imperative.

Behind all this, however, is a more important factor—the railwaymen themselves. No system, however carefully thought out, can be better than the men whose duty it is to administer it. Because of this, Canadian National employees are pledged, as their first consideration in all circumstances, to the strict observance of all rules and the prompt and faithful performance of all actions which make for safety of life and property.

This safety of railway travel is, therefore, no casual matter. It is the result of the adoption of the most rigorous standards and the application at all seasons and times of one principle—that nothing will be tolerated in railway operation which is not safe . . . no shortcuts . . . no experiments . . . no substitutes.

At this season of the year when travel in all its forms is at its peak and highways are crowded, this matter of safety is of unusual importance. It should receive the serious consideration of the traveller, whether for long or short distances. Such consideration will show another and powerful reason for travelling by the C. N. R.

ENCOURAGING

FROM SEVERAL QUARTERS COMES evidence of a continual gradual improvement in industry and business. The recent monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, already quoted from in these columns, reports a continuation of the steady advancement in commercial activity which began last year. New records are being established in the volume of electrical energy generated, car loadings are well above those of the corresponding months of last year, while the indices of industrial production and employment continue to reflect encouraging progress.

Agricultural and Industrial Progress in Canada, a monthly review published by the Department of Immigration and Colonization of the Canadian Pacific Railway, reports that western conditions continue to improve. The rains of June, followed by cool weather, changed the agricultural outlook, and there is now a promise of a grain crop that will be of useful dimensions. Trading in all lines of merchandise keeps up to a fair level, showing distinct improvement over sales of last year. Construction work of all classes is on the upward grade, and there is an increase in employment generally.

More enquiries in relation to new industries are noticeable, says this publication, with some new plants in Winnipeg and at other western points. Warehouse space is in better demand, and there is a further expansion in gas and oil bulk stations. Additional mining plants are under construction in the various mineral areas of the prairie provinces and in British Columbia. The mining industry, in a general way, is making progress and anticipating marketing conditions that will justify present capital investment. There is some improvement in domestic sales of lumber and in the pulp and paper market, while the overseas market for lumber is still very active.

An Ottawa dispatch last Thursday reported a substantial increase in railway gross earnings for May, which aggregated $26,068,788, against $21,446,513 for the corresponding month last year. "Net operating revenues advanced by $2,680,563. The operating income of the Canadian National Railways in Canada was sufficient to overcome the loss on the company's lines in the United States and also the system's losses for the previous four months. All these are signs of returning economic health.

THAT PAMPHLET

HON. H. H. STEVENS, MINISTER OF Trade and Commerce, is strong for issuing pamphlets, circulars and other pronouncements through his department, but something seems to have gone wrong in connection with the little mimeographed twelve-page document prepared by him on the basis of the evidence produced before the mass buying committee of the House of Commons and sent out to certain newspapers and individuals. In that document Mr. Stevens charged financial and commercial interests with exploiting consumers in various ways and said he would not rest until these conditions were remedied, even if they involved changes in Conservative policy.

Some of the interests attacked got wind of the pamphlet and threatened the government with legal action, contending that some of Mr. Stevens' conclusions were not justified by the evidence before the committee. Mr. Bennett got on the long-distance telephone with his Minister of Trade and Commerce who was at Winnipeg, and, according to an Ottawa dispatch to one of our contemporaries on this coast, the conversation lasted an hour—in itself a costly business. It must have been a hot dialogue in all the circumstances, since the upshot was the withdrawal of the pamphlet and the explanation by Mr. Stevens that it was a copy of an address delivered by him to a parliamentary study club, that it was not intended for publication and that its circulation was merely a departmental mistake.

On the whole it is hard to believe that the circulation of the publication was a mere inadvertence. It more likely was intended for the purpose of political capital, to be used to show the public how valiant a supporter it has in Mr. Stevens, who must meet the electors in an election before long. Moreover, the fact that Mr. Bennett was unaware of the distribution of a pamphlet in which one of his ministers was planning the nature of the government's campaign, before it went out, is somewhat illuminating in the light of the well-known hazy relations which prevail between the Prime Minister and the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

It is no secret at Ottawa that Mr. Stevens began his agitation for a parliamentary committee for business investigation while Mr. Bennett was on a visit to Vancouver, and practically committed the government to this probe without the approval of his chief, who found it too late to hold up the programme when he returned. Some may deduce that Mr. Stevens now is trying to force the government's hands again into the adoption of a campaign cry which he thinks will be effective in the coming election, but that this time Mr. Bennett has been able to suppress the minister, force him to recall the documents and explain that their circulation was a mistake.

In any case, the incident clearly suggests that an election late this fall is a distinct probability, notwithstanding Conservative assertions that there will be none until next year. Anticipating this, Mr. Stevens wants to base his appeal to the electorate on the abuses disclosed by the investigating committee, which he will promise his party intends to correct at the next session if it is returned to office. If the election were deferred until next summer there would be no force in these promises, because there would not be the slightest prospect of any business reform measures being enacted by the present government during a session which would precede an election in 1935. But anything could be promised in an election this fall, and that is what Mr. Stevens has in mind.

TO TAX NOISE

A TAX ON NOISE IS PROPOSED TO save the nerves of the people of the United Kingdom. It is thought that taxation may succeed where all appeals have failed in the matter of unnecessary noise, and the suggestion of a tax was made in a letter from Leslie More-Belisha, Minister of Transport, which was read at a conference of the Anti-noise League at Oxford.

"All new heavy motor cars put on the road since January, 1933, have to be fitted with pneumatic tires," he wrote, "and the scales of taxation have been so framed as to give a strong incentive to people to substitute pneumatic tires on existing vehicles. The heavy vehicle on solid tires which caused so much unnecessary noise in the past is rapidly disappearing.

"Regulations also forbid the use of motor vehicles and trailers which have caused excessive noise, and the sounding of horns on stationary vehicles.

"The Road Traffic Bill proposed further to exhibit the use of the horn in prescribed hours and zones of silence." Mr. More-Belisha stated that in order to gain exact knowledge of what really causes noise the ministry has invoked the best scientific assistance. He expressed the hope the motor manufacturing industry will co-operate with the government in a determined effort to find a remedy for present unnecessary and harmful noises.

Taxing objectionable noises opens up a wide field, since all the assault upon the ear-drums are not from motor cars. In some places steamship sirens, whistles in industries and on locomotives are more objectionable than the discordant tooting of the horns on motor cars. It is easy enough for the authorities to control the nuisance as far as motor cars are concerned through the co-operation of the manufacturers and proper police supervision, but what about roosters, cats, and dogs? What about sneezes during hay fever time? What about the human voice in "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here" during what ought to be the silent watches of the night? What about the young man and his saxophone? Dare we mention the bag-pipe? Indeed, of the making of noises there is no end. It might be easier to tax smells of which there also is an infinite variety.

SS. ISLANDER REAPPEARS

THIRTY-THREE YEARS AGO THIS month the Canadian Pacific coast steamship Islander, then the finest vessel operating on the northern run, struck a reef near Juneau, Alaska, and sank in a few minutes with a loss of seventy-eight lives. Until nearly two weeks ago she had defied all efforts to raise her, and it was believed that she would rest permanently in Mr. Davy Jones's well-known locker. For some months, however, a company has been operating with marked persistency, and through the fine work of divers it has been possible to raise her on cables by graduated stages, until on July 25 she reappeared above the surface and now rests in a cove on Admiralty Island.

When the ship sank there were rumors that she carried a large consignment of gold, the reported aggregate value grew with years. At one time the figure was placed at $200,000, but in recent times this has been expanded into $3,000,000. Mr. Harry Bishop, of this city, who was purser aboard the vessel when she was wrecked, says there were only $1,000 in the safe. Ships had long ceased bringing out gold in large quantities, since it was more convenient for the miners to sell their metal to the banks in Dawson where they could get just as good a price for it as they could outside. Most of the large banks had branches in the Klondike city. In this respect the salvage operations were worthy of a better outcome.

The Islander was regarded at that time as the crack vessel of the local C.P.R. fleet. She had been built for the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company, which had been acquired by the C.P.R. a few months before she was wrecked. Her home port was Victoria. Contrasted with the line of coast steamships which began with the Princess Victoria not long afterwards, she would have presented a very modest appearance.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE ONLY WAY
 The Ottawa Citizen

In motoring in urban areas there are written and unwritten rules, and every motorist is aware of them. If he is not, he should be. A persistent observance of the rules means an easier vehicular flow and a minimum of risk. A persistent non-observance of the rules to a persistent lack of courtesy and leads to opposite results. Sometimes it seems a hopeless business to expect that appeals to common sense and thoughtfulness will bring tangible results, especially in traffic matters, but we know of no other way to seek general improvement.

THE LETTER ON THE SPIRIT!
 The Winnipeg Tribune

Are the proceedings relative to the Tariff Board and its findings in keeping with the spirit of the agreement, or even the letter? Mr. Bennett knows well enough the agreements would never have been signed if the United Kingdom delegation had not attached vast importance to the Tariff Board and its function of "interpreting the agreement"—to use Mr. Bennett's own words. It is being permitted to interpret the agreement? It is not. "If I interpret aright the attitude of this country to the great Imperial policy we are adopting, public opinion throughout Canada would demand that it be so carried out." Mr. Bennett was right then. He is wrong now, and he had better do something about it.

BETTER TIMES IN THE MARITIMES
 The Halifax Herald

With indications that fish are plentiful on the Banks, a good catch is anticipated. Marriages generally are firm. Owing to adverse weather the spring catch of lobsters has been below average, but prices are better than last year. The lumber market as a whole shows little change. Production of newspaper and other paper products has increased. Textile industries generally are operating at capacity; woollen mills are working overtime. This year to date 1,440,419 tons of coal have been mined by the Coal Corporation, as against 821,116 tons for the corresponding period last year. Ingot production at Sydney has increased from 1,500 tons in May, 1933, to 17,000 tons in May of this year.

Loose Ends

A silly fad is observed among the wide-spread of Canadian politicians—the fad of loose ends. The fad is observed in the wedding plans and hunting trips are cancelled—but what of it?—Our corn is ripe.

By H. B. W.

FETISH

OF ALL THE SILLY FETISHES observed by the wild aboriginals of Canadian politics, the silliest is the great strategy of keeping an election date secret. Premier Bennett is going through the tortures of the damned trying to prevent his plans leaking out. The members of his cabinet don't know. I doubt that the members of his cabinet know. Probably Mr. Bennett tries to hide the horrid knowledge from himself, and one can imagine his modest little suite in the Chateau Laurier guarded, at each of its fifteen carved doors, all night by faithful men-at-arms, last night late in the evening in the corridor overhead the prime ministerial voice talking in its sleep.

You can imagine the unhappy cabinet ministers unable to plan their holidays for fear that Mr. Bennett might spring an election on them at any moment. You can imagine them dropping dark hints like: "Look here, boss, of course I don't want to pry into anything that isn't my business, but I'm figuring on a little hunting trip in October and I had a great chance to buy a swell rifle second-hand and—." Or, "My daughter was figuring on getting married next spring, but, of course, it would be nice for her to be given away by a cabinet minister, so if the election is going to be held in the autumn we might advance the date of the wedding a bit." Or, "You know, boss, I was figuring I'd like a little trip to England before the end of this show, so if you think I'd better go now I could start packing to-night."

But to all these heartrending entreaties, to all the cries from the private members out in the straits, who are counting on next winter's indemnity to pay the mortgage, Mr. Bennett replies with a look of cold, grey defiance. It is his secret and no one else's business.

WHOSE FEAST?

BUT IS IT? "by isn't it just as much the business of Mr. George Padbury, cultivating yonder, as it is Mr. Bennett's? Who is going to decide the election when it comes anyway? Not the Bennett, but the Padburys. It is not a feast of prime ministers, but of cultivators of the soil. It is entirely the common men's show. Indeed, it is about the only day in four or five years when the common men have any show at all, or are in the least regarded by the big blank sheets of Parliament Hill.

If it were only the rights of the Padburys that were involved, one could understand the craze for election date secrecy. If there were anything to be gained for a government in keeping the election date dark, one would not expect the rights of the Padburys to stand in the way of this greater good. But there is nothing to be gained for the government. The election party is not going to be suddenly taken unaware by an election next week. The other party, on the contrary, ignorant of the probable date, prepares all the sooner so that it can't be surprised. If it knew there would be no election for a year it wouldn't hurry. But not sure that the election would come this autumn, it redoubles its preparations and will be ready at all times for anything.

If the Bennett Government were to announce now that the election would be held in October, 1935, the public would settle down green and soon get used to the idea. But by keeping the public guessing, the government only annoys it the more. The public feels that the government is up to something, is trying to horn-swagger in some way, is playing a city game with a question which is entirely the public's own business. This hurts the government enormously.

Loose Ends

A silly fad is observed among the wide-spread of Canadian politicians—the fad of loose ends. The fad is observed in the wedding plans and hunting trips are cancelled—but what of it?—Our corn is ripe.

FETISH

OF ALL THE SILLY FETISHES observed by the wild aboriginals of Canadian politics, the silliest is the great strategy of keeping an election date secret. Premier Bennett is going through the tortures of the damned trying to prevent his plans leaking out. The members of his cabinet don't know. I doubt that the members of his cabinet know. Probably Mr. Bennett tries to hide the horrid knowledge from himself, and one can imagine his modest little suite in the Chateau Laurier guarded, at each of its fifteen carved doors, all night by faithful men-at-arms, last night late in the evening in the corridor overhead the prime ministerial voice talking in its sleep.

You can imagine the unhappy cabinet ministers unable to plan their holidays for fear that Mr. Bennett might spring an election on them at any moment. You can imagine them dropping dark hints like: "Look here, boss, of course I don't want to pry into anything that isn't my business, but I'm figuring on a little hunting trip in October and I had a great chance to buy a swell rifle second-hand and—." Or, "My daughter was figuring on getting married next spring, but, of course, it would be nice for her to be given away by a cabinet minister, so if the election is going to be held in the autumn we might advance the date of the wedding a bit." Or, "You know, boss, I was figuring I'd like a little trip to England before the end of this show, so if you think I'd better go now I could start packing to-night."

But to all these heartrending entreaties, to all the cries from the private members out in the straits, who are counting on next winter's indemnity to pay the mortgage, Mr. Bennett replies with a look of cold, grey defiance. It is his secret and no one else's business.

WHOSE FEAST?

BUT IS IT? "by isn't it just as much the business of Mr. George Padbury, cultivating yonder, as it is Mr. Bennett's? Who is going to decide the election when it comes anyway? Not the Bennett, but the Padburys. It is not a feast of prime ministers, but of cultivators of the soil. It is entirely the common men's show. Indeed, it is about the only day in four or five years when the common men have any show at all, or are in the least regarded by the big blank sheets of Parliament Hill.

If it were only the rights of the Padburys that were involved, one could understand the craze for election date secrecy. If there were anything to be gained for a government in keeping the election date dark, one would not expect the rights of the Padburys to stand in the way of this greater good. But there is nothing to be gained for the government. The election party is not going to be suddenly taken unaware by an election next week. The other party, on the contrary, ignorant of the probable date, prepares all the sooner so that it can't be surprised. If it knew there would be no election for a year it wouldn't hurry. But not sure that the election would come this autumn, it redoubles its preparations and will be ready at all times for anything.

If the Bennett Government were to announce now that the election would be held in October, 1935, the public would settle down green and soon get used to the idea. But by keeping the public guessing, the government only annoys it the more. The public feels that the government is up to something, is trying to horn-swagger in some way, is playing a city game with a question which is entirely the public's own business. This hurts the government enormously.

POPULAR PAIR WED MONDAY

Miss Agnes S. Hall Becomes Bride of Mr. Harold W. Earl

In the presence of a large congregation of interested friends, the marriage took place at the First United Church yesterday evening of Miss Agnes S. Hall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall, 2535 Prior Street, and Mr. Harold William Earl, only son of Mr. W. T. Earl, and of the late Mrs. Earl, Victoria. Rev. W. W. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony, and Mr. Alfred Gurney presided at the organ. During the signing of the register, Miss Evelyn England sang "I Love You, Truly."

IN WHITE SATIN
The bride was given in marriage by her father and her lovely white satin gown was made in floor length, with long sleeves, tight-fitting at the wrists. Her veil of embroidered silk net was draped beneath a Juliet cap of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations, roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Muriel Hall was her sister's bridesmaid, in a frock of pink and finished with a pink satin sash. Her wide-brimmed hat of pale pink mohair was trimmed with pink velvet ribbon and tiny blue flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and white sweet peas.

The little flower girl, Genevieve Miller, wore a frilly frock of green organdie, tied with a pink sash and wore a pink and white bow. Her Victorian pony was of roses and carnations.

The best man was Mr. Frank Holland, and the ushers were Mr. Edward Wilson and Mr. Roy Wilson.

RECEPTION AT HALL
A largely attended reception was held at Hall's Hall, the bride's mother, wearing a blue and white embroidered gown, with hat to match, being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Criville Buchanan of Anacortes, sister of the groom, who wore a dress of blue and white, and a white hat. Both had elaborate bouquets of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Later, supper was served from a table spread with a hand-made lace cloth, centered with the three-tier cake, and arranged with silver vase of pink and white sweet peas. Assisting with serving were Misses Thelma Richardson, Kathleen and Cecil Caldwell, Melissa Daly, Kathleen Miles and Elsie Matthews.

An orchestra was in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Earl left for a honeymoon trip to Washington, D.C., and to the West Coast, and the bride and groom will later make their home in Victoria.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. O. Buchanan and her son, Lloyd, of Anacortes; the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hall, North Vancouver, and her aunts, Mrs. J. Galtbrith of Vancouver and Mrs. T. Marguerite of Port Angeles.

The many beautiful and useful gifts included a silver tea service from the bride's former associates at the General Warehouse Limited, and a General Warehouse Limited, Johnson Street, of which the groom is a member.

HELD BABY FOR UNPAID RENT
New York Actress Sues Landlord for Return of Child

Associated Press
Jersey City, N.J., Aug. 7.—In a chancery court for the city of Jersey City, a woman who is holding the two-year-old child of a New York actress for unpaid rent.

The human collateral is the little son of Mrs. Beatrice McElroy of New York City. The woman who holds the child in her arms is a woman who, she maintains, "I do not know wrong." The unpaid board bill is $250.

Mrs. McElroy brought the case into court by securing an order directing Mrs. Gross to show cause why she should not return the child to her mother.

She told the court she placed the child with Mrs. Gross to board of June 5, 1933, at $10 a week. She said her job after that and on January 1 asked for the child, offering to pay $30 in cash and the balance of the $80 then due in 8 weekly installments. But Mrs. Gross, the complaint said, refused the settlement.

Last week Mrs. McElroy again sought to get her child. She had obtained work meanwhile and offered Mrs. Gross $50 in cash and $5 a week for the balance owed, but again the North Bergen woman allegedly refused to talk terms.

MUSICAL CIRCUS TO GO ON ROAD

New York, Aug. 7.—It looks like a boom theatrical season, and an early one. Thirteen shows are scheduled for August, and about seventy already have been announced for the year. The Theatre Guild has doubled its subscriptions over this time last year.

Most amusing entertainment news comes from Billy Rose, little big-shot whose two monumental nightclubs are writing Broadway history. This is not a Broadway scheme, however, but a traveling musical circus, showing under canvas, and including 200 chorists, 200 ballet girls, 100 show girls, 200 choral singers, assorted stoges, solo entertainers, and two large orchestras.

Believing that circuses have not offered anything new since the days of Barnum, Rose and some friends decided to back this Colonial Congress of Fulschitude to the tune of $500,000 dollars. The colosse will tune up next April.

Tragic End to Widow of Prince Rigo, Famous Gypsy Violinist

New York, Aug. 7.—Two friends averted to-day a Potter's Field burial for Mrs. Katherine Rigo, Gypsy, fifty-five, widow of Prince Rigo, famous gypsy violinist, with whom she once toured Europe, accompanied by forty servants.

For nearly a day after her death the body lay unclaimed in a hospital. Then Frank Parker, an acrobat, and Mary Davis, both of New York, arranged to have the remains taken to a funeral chapel.

Taken to a hospital charity ward from her isolated tenement room, Mrs. Gordon died Sunday penniless and alone. Nothing remained of the fortune which had enabled her to achieve a colorful, glamorous life on two continents.

She was only seventeen when she first married—to Casper Bernstein, wealthy and socially prominent Philadelphia. They went to Europe and there met Prince Rigo. The gypsy musician and Mrs. Bernstein fell in love and they were married.

A new era of lavish living opened for Rigo and his bride. Rigo's prodigious earnings were spent with one hand. Later, Mrs. Rigo's income dwindled, and in 1927 Rigo died, leaving his widow penniless.

Two years later she married Edward Gordon, former Lieutenant-Governor of Florida. The depression swept away the Gordon fortune and she died. Mrs. Rigo, finally, was evicted by a foreclosure and she drifted from one Manhattan tenement to another. When she died, an old pauper, neither worth much, were her only possessions.

Married Flirts

"Isn't it perfect?" Gypsey, her brown curls pushed back, a smudge on her cheek, her front teeth showing, demanded approval of her husband. The little room shone with cleanliness and fresh paint and good will. The day bed, upholstered in green material, occupied the longest wall space. There were two wicker chairs and a dropped table. There was an unopened bookshelf. There were one or two nice black and white prints. The casual onlooker might have pronounced the room half furnished, as indeed it was, bare of rugs, had curtains and cushions, but to the young Weavers it seemed perfect and therefore was.

"Later, of course," Gypsey planned, "we'll get some deep chairs and some rugs. We simply can't manage them yet—and what does it matter?"

Tom, who had been hanging pictures, stepped down from his stool to embrace her. What a darling she was, how good, and how beautiful! Why, she might have had everything, this girl, and she had chosen instead to link her way with him! He couldn't believe in his luck, quite yet.

He plunked in the kitchen that evening, enjoying a scrambled meal of canned beans and crisp bacon, and said: "It was fun, it was all fun—from setting the table with a checked cloth to washing the blue and white dishes."

"Later," Gypsey boasted, "you'll have regular meals—the sort you read about in the magazines. I didn't take that course in cooking for nothing."

"You'll have to get some sort of part-time maid," Tom told her, firmly. "You can't work all day with these kids and come home to beds and dishes."

"Well, see about that," Gypsey said. "But privately she was sure she was equal to anything. Let's see, she had got $50 a week at the Settlement, and Tom's salary was $75 now. He'd had to take two reductions. That was more than $100 a week. It seemed riches to the girl. Back in the hills there had never been anything so glorious, so utterly marvelous, as a regular income. Daddy had a way of defending penniless clients, and even when the cases he took were those of rich people, the latter had a way of being grateful. Gypsey felt the Weavers could do anything! This apartment was $50. They would keep the cat at mother's—there would be no expense in that quarter, except for gas and oil, week ends. They might even go abroad, in a year or two. Thus Gypsey's dream.

Tom had lighted his pipe, was leaning at ease on the day bed. Gypsey went down the hall to contemplate, for the hundredth time, the bedroom. She loved every inch of it, from the green and white counterpane, reproductions of some old pattern, to the dressing table, which was green and white, had come, had cost the startling sum of $11! The beds were low, poised, of imitation mahogany, set up to add note of charm. Wasn't it a darling room? They had done it all themselves. She didn't envy people who could afford expensive decorators. They missed half the fun.

The phone rang and she ran to answer it. She sounded important and young matronly, to herself.

"Tom, I think it's long distance," she said, holding her hand against the mouthpiece. "They're a long about it..." Her heart began to beat rather fast. Perhaps it was mother! Perhaps she was really ill; this time.

"Yes, yes," her expression changed, ever so slightly. "It's Mrs. Weaver, speaking. No, not his mother, his wife."

Gypsey spoke to the tall, fair-haired young man beside her.

"Someone for you, Tom." She went back into the living-room and tried not to listen. Tom's voice was still with embarrassment—and something else. What was it all about? A high, impetuous, feminine voice summoning him from some unknown place. Gypsey had made up her mind, long ago—as long ago as last June, in fact, when she and Tom had become engaged—not to be a suspicious wife. But she couldn't help the sudden outcropping of a perfectly natural jealousy. Her resolutions faded in the face of it.

"Yes, that's great," How awkward Tom sounded! What was this mysterious woman saying, to make him so stiff and unnatural? "Why, I certainly wish I could. Didn't you know about it? I thought everybody knew."

There was a long pause. Then he said, with forced brightness, "I tell you what, you come and have lunch with Gypsey—with my wife and too. That would be better wouldn't it?"

Gypsey didn't listen to the rest. She was trying not to be too angry. Who was this person who intruded upon their first night at home? It wasn't fair.

Tom came away from the telephone with that suspiciously too-casual air which young husbands often wear, and with which Gypsey was not yet familiar. Something deep in her bones, however, recognized it and stiffened to meet it.

"Old girl friend," Tom yawned. The yawn, also, was a shade too theatrical. Gypsey, straightening books, did not reply.

"I told you about her, darling," Tom purred, coming up to her, and slipping his arm around her. "Vera Gray—I saw quite a lot of her when I worked in Boston, you remember."

Gypsey remembered, quite clearly, all she had heard of this Vera person. She was big and beautiful in a full-blown way. Rosina had told her. She had been making "a dead set" for Tom, according to Rosina. When Gypsey had come upon the scene, Tom and Gypsey had known each other in childhood, but hadn't met until a little more than a year ago, at a studio party. Tom, just back from Boston, feeling his way about an unfamiliar city in his new job, had taken one look at Gypsey and promptly relinquished the full-blown Vera.

"What on earth is she doing in town?" Gypsey said, trying to keep the creaminess out of her voice. The meant, what is she doing, calling you up, when you've just been married?" but of course she did not say so. Even the most modern young women, deep down, these primitive feelings of possession. Gypsey, ordinarily the most amiable of girls, felt within her now an urge to bite and claw and quarrel.

"How could I?" Tom said, guiltlessly. "She was driving down... didn't know a thing about my Big Moment (meaning you) and since we were in the new telephone book, just gave me a ring."

"I see," Gypsey sounded miles away, and quite as if she didn't see at all. "Look here, darling, what's this all about?" She melted when Tom set his jaw and talked to her like that. "Aren't you being awfully silly?"

"I—I guess so." "Well, stop it, then, and be your own adorable self. Look your love-lings, when you have lunch with me and Vera to-morrow. At the Algonquin, at one. I want her to be properly dazzled by my wife."

"Oh, oh!" Gypsey stared at him, accusingly. "You know it's my first day back at work and I can't possibly come that far up town for lunch. You know it!"

Popular Actor Has Leading Role in "Charlie Chan's Courage"

The story by Earl Derr Biggers is solved by the enigmatic Oriental detective, created on the screen by Warner Oland. It is one of his most baffling mysteries.

In current literature Holmes and even Philo Vance. On the screen Warner Oland has become definitely identified as Charlie Chan. So much so that his name is synonymous with "Charlie Chan."

The leading feminine role has been given to beautiful Drew Leighton, lately directed film, was Mason's fellow actor several years ago. George Cukor, who directed Katharine Hepburn's last picture, "Little Women," was the stage director of the play, "Trigger."

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE
A somewhat novel stage connection exists among five of those connected with Katharine Hepburn's current starring vehicle, "Spitfire," now at the Playhouse Theatre. Lulu Valmer, author of the stage play, "Trigger," from which the picture was adapted, also assisted in writing the screen version. Louis Mason and Sara Haden, prominent in the supporting cast, appeared in the Broadway production; and John Cromwell, who directed the film, was Mason's fellow actor several years ago. George Cukor, who directed Katharine Hepburn's last picture, "Little Women," was the stage director of the play, "Trigger."

Heart Disease Deaths Rise With Life Span

But Increase Also Results From Better Diagnosis, Childhood Infections and Reaction to Modern Civilization

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

The death rate from heart disease in the United States in 1933 was 132 for each 100,000 of the population. In 1922 it was 224 per 100,000, an increase of approximately 70 per cent.

Some of this increase is due to the fact that more people are living longer, and that they must die of some disease or, at least, of a breaking down of the body generally. Since the failure of the heart is associated with death, it is reasonable to believe that as more people live longer, more and more will die of heart disease.

However, other factors are involved in this increase. One is the improvement in the ability of doctors to diagnose certain types of heart disease, such as those affecting the coronary arteries or the small blood vessels which supply the heart itself with blood.

Another important factor is the increase in frequency of heart disease in people past thirty years of age. In previous generations many people died of infectious diseases of childhood. Now they tend to avoid these diseases or to recover from them, but at times there is sufficient damage to the heart to show itself in the increased number of deaths after thirty years of age.

The various types of heart disease vary in different parts of the country. Rheumatic fever predominates as a cause of heart disease in the north and east portions of the United States, but is much less in the southern portions.

In the western and southern portions of the country, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries are associated with the increase in heart disease.

The figures show that heart disease is twice as frequent in the north-east portions of the United States as in the far south, while the middle west and central states are just between the two.

That type of heart disease which is called hypertensive, and which is associated with high blood pressure, seems to be increasing and is said to be incident to the increased strain and complexity of modern life. It is a remarkable observation that native Chinese seldom have high blood pressure, but when they develop the condition when transplanted into the life of the United States.

Among African natives, high blood pressure is seldom seen, but the direct descendants of the African natives in this country have a higher incidence of abnormally high blood pressure than do white people living in the same districts.

Where To Go To-night

As advertised

Capitol—"The Great Flirtation," starring Ellen Landi.

Columbia—"Victor McLaglen in 'The Last Patrol'."

Dominion—"Warner Oland in 'Charlie Chan's Courage'."

Empire—"The Great Flirtation," starring Ellen Landi.

Playhouse—"Katherine Hepburn in 'Spitfire'."

Crystal Garden—Swimming.

Hands of unseen enemies, are woven into "The Last Patrol," a powerful and unforgettable picture which is at the Columbia Theatre.

Performances of the cast are uniformly superb, with Victor McLaglen and Ellen Landi having an edge on the others because of longer parts and superior dramatic opportunities.

EMPIRE THEATRE
"His Grace Gives Notice" is the title of the picture at the Empire Theatre to-day.

In this picture, George is a footman, and not even a good footman, for he will keep forgetting that servants are not to forget themselves to the extent of displaying the feelings of an ordinary human being. These little lapses cause a ruffian on the scene, who is not a ruffian at all, but a man of the world, who is not a man of the world at all, but a man of the world.

The story introduces those famous masters of the waltz, Johann Strauss and his son, and the gay atmosphere at the time when Vienna was ruled by a benevolent Emperor and the waltz of Johann Strauss.

ANTI-WAR PROTEST

many others have since his time and for the same reason.

There was, however, one speaker, who came last on the programme, who had driven eighty miles to attend the meeting and would drive eighty back the same night, in order to get over the few words he had time to say. He was a returned soldier and he was all about war and its "idealism," and his contemporary speech was given with a force and sincerity that reached out to the crowd like a tangible presence, and for which they seemed to have been waiting all the evening. He was a stranger to Victoria, but when he spoke, the crowd for the first time became responsive, articulate, and he even performed that most notable achievement of checking the homeward movement of a dispersing crowd and holding them in their place at a late hour. He frankly admitted that he never prayed, because he always "talked to connect," he made no reference to changes of heart, religion, conversions or scriptural ethics, but he gave his life and spirit to the cause of humanity in a detached, disinterested way, and neither did he compromise or extenuate when dealing with the question of war.

The churches have a favorite quotation: "Inasmuch as ye do it to the least of these ye do it unto Me," but the true implication has escaped them. "The least of these" are not the "Me" and "Me" are one and the same thing, and therefore, in giving wholehearted and undivided attention to the cause of humanity, we are serving the cause of humanity.

ONE OF THE CROWD.
To the Editor:—The Victoria Times has quite recently two very good editorials, namely: "The Picture of Civilization" and "Only God's Code." My mind the City Council's motto should be: "If you work for the city, you must live in the city." There are plenty of people in this city who have been waiting for a long time to live in the city and who would be glad to live in the city if they could. There should be no excuse, either from a health or financial point of view; Victoria is healthy enough for anyone, and I would therefore advise the other members of the council to stand by Alderman Hawkins and Alderman McGavin and demand the residence at least of every city employee, or his resignation.

(MRS.) A. B. MARSHALL, Belmont Avenue, City, August 2.

HOW COME?
To the Editor:—This evening's issue of The Victoria Daily Times has an article on raising of St. Islander, described by Diver W. Hucking.

In one part the Islander is supposed to have been for thirty years in 353 feet of water.

In November, when he first went down, he worked four dips and one hour per dip, but it being late in the year they decided to leave it till the following May, when he would have been in 140 feet and stern in ninety-five feet.

As an old diver I would like to know how he came up from 140 feet to 140 feet? "SALVAGER," Victoria, Aug. 6.

CITY EMPLOYEES
To the Editor:—Apropos of the controversy pertaining to the city of Victoria employing people who reside outside the city, and if it is a fair question may one ask through you what was the underlying motive for large mercantile firms paying high wages for their sales in Victoria's business centre, considering property could have been obtained for less within the surrounding municipalities?

Again, business and professional persons as a whole, such as doctors, dentists, lawyers, etc., rent offices in Victoria's business centre?

REAL PEACE
To the Editor:—It is interesting to read the letters in regard to the Federal Council of Youth and to know that all are in accordance with a protest against war, but I fail to see how any protest can take effect unless the reality is put into effect, too. The only real remedy for the peace of the world is clearly laid down in the Bible, in which we find God's laws for governing the world, and His economic plan. These laws are perfect as the plans and natural laws which govern the universe and though people are taught to accept the latter, the former is the last thing to be thought of. We believe in Christ and Christ believed the Old Testament, but the Old Testament is so often put aside as "out of date," yet it is the only way to prevent the war which overshadows the world, and that is by teaching the Bible. The outlook for the young people of to-day is a hopeless one, no work, ambition unrealized, and a future threatened by war, but there is a glorious heritage, if they are given a chance to know that "back to the Bible" is the only way to prevent the war which overshadows the world.

DOROTHY ABRAHAM, 81 South Turner Street, Victoria.

WORK AND WAGES
To the Editor:—In answer to Mr. A. T. Pemberton's letter of July 31, the letter complained of, under my signature, was a motion, regularly moved, seconded and carried at a public meeting by the organization of which I happen to be secretary. As such, I presume, has to be given effect; and if such a motion had come forward and been carried Mr. Pemberton would have received an acknowledgment to follow, irrespective of his personal opinions.

As to the voting of the EPA or who was to put in power, it is beside the point. Granted your quotation of Mr. Pemberton's speech is correct, no motion was made of any consequence in my letter, yet the Premier is trying to dip

Keen Competition Marks Opening Play In Lawn Bowling Tourney

THE SPORTS MIRROR

BOB O'FARRELL was managing the cellar-dwelling Cincinnati Reds in the National League with prospects anything but rosy, when up spoke the gallant Larry McPhail, who as owner of the Reds practically lifted O'Farrell out of the depths into the limelight by saying: "You do not have to manage the Reds any more." It was a commutation of sentence, one full page must be the luck of the Irish that brought the double stroke of fortune to Bob O'Farrell in his dark hour. Bob becomes one of the growing set of remittance men in baseball. This includes Max Carey, Lou Ponsessa, Burt Shotton and George Gibson. The happy lot of these carefree fellows is to be paid for not minding ball clubs. It is a life of luxury.

Max Carey was all at sea when his lucky number came up. He had gone on a fishing trip in Florida waters, possibly hoping to drown the woes that were besetting him. He had a head and shoulders as the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. When he beached his boat in the twilight a courier dashed on with the news that the Chicago White Sox had won the pennant. Carey had been sentenced to replace him as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The night of Carey's suffering touched him deeply. He opened the cage and said: "You are free, on full pay. Ponsessa pinched me all several times to make sure that I wasn't dreaming. He walked in a game. It seemed too good to be true."

It was urged at first that the baseball owners were falling in with the NBA in paying managers for not managing. It was something like paying of farmers not to grow wheat or raise hogs. But now the charge is that the baseball owners have violated some code of fair practice. The right of Ponsessa's salary has been raised by a set of envious fellows who begrudge Max Carey, Shotton, Gibson, Carey and Ponsessa their happy lots. The slighted boss also complains that Max Carey, for instance, gets a manager's salary from the Brooklyn club and that the element Carey salary gets a manager's salary from the same Brooklyn club, but the distribution of work for that salary fractures the code in several places. Carey, who has no head, no pitching worries, no dreadful days and sleepless nights. He does not have the same worries as the other players in full cry after him. Stengel, receiving a manager's salary like Carey, has all that work and all those woes. The same point is made with respect to other players named in the bill of complaint.

The easy life of the remittance men is a sign of improved social conditions in baseball life. In the old days the club owners used to let a manager suffer until he begged for mercy and then they would thrust the managers out into the cold with nothing except a warning never to darken their doors again. But these are brighter days. The owners say: "Here, you have suffered long enough. Take the remainder of your salary and enjoy yourself." Sometimes it is as though the manager, but the man who receives a salary for doing nothing can afford to overlook such trifles.

Baseball is a brighter, brighter career than ever before to the youth of the nation. There is not only a chance to be a popular hero, to be paid for playing a game, but also the opportunity to be in the footsteps of the remittance men—full pay and no work!

Plans For Salmon Derby In Progress

These will be held at Brentwood on August 12 and 13. All fish will be weighed in on the scales at McKinnon Bay between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock. Those members who fail to arrive on before 12 will be eligible to try again on August 19. Membership tickets are obtainable at any sporting goods store or from Stan Bennett, 811 View Street. Books covering the rules for the semi-finals will be given to any member who has not yet received one. Hughes' Defeat In Singles Play Major Surprise

NEW CHAMP TOOK BUMPS

Tommy Mather, British Empire Tower Diving Titleholder in Present Meet, Experienced Rocky Road to Fame

BY ART STOTT
He got the bump, but he could take it. A minor calamity the smacking his head on a platform and dropping thirty-five feet, to hit the water on the flat of his back, was just part of the routine to Tommy Mather, the Highgate Diving Club's new British Empire tower diving champion.

When Tommy was working on his ladder—that is the dive in which you face the water, cast off forward with your feet rising and then hoarse your head back as if you were returning to the platform for something you had forgotten—he cracked his head on the plank. From thirty-five feet he dropped sixteen feet per second, and smashed on the water. It gave him a pain in the neck, and it should have knocked all the diving aspirations out of him. But he bearded back up the steps to try again. And he repeated the performance, bump included. The fourth time he struggled up the steps they thought he was punch drunk or plain silly. But it was just perseverance. And on the fourth dive, he completed his stunt without the bump.

KEPT PLUGGING AWAY
Tommy went over to Amsterdam for the 1928 Olympics and dived. But that was all. The selection committee skipped him for the first British Empire Games in Hamilton in 1930, and then they shelved him, along with their other divers, when the Olympics rolled around in Los Angeles in 1932. But he kept on diving. Last year he should have been top dog in the sport. But he played with it, splitting honors evenly with Doug Tomalin, his Highgate teammate, in British championships and holding his own in European competition.

When the lights flashed on in the new empire pool at Wembley this year, he was still in the running. And when the last judge stuck up his flash card, and the last computer finished his score, he was the new British Empire champion. It is a new title, his only regret now is that he wasn't diving against his friend, Alf Phillips, Canada's leading performer and former holder of the empire title, who was unable to make the trip after being chosen No. 1 for the Maple Leaf team.

FINE PLAY IN RINKS EVENT

First-round matches in the men's singles and early play in the women's and men's rink competitions were completed yesterday in the seventh annual tournament of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association. All greens in the city were in use and players reported weather conditions were very favorable after a what appeared to be a gloomy outlook early in the morning. Competitors were in action until a late hour yesterday evening.

Play was exceptionally close in the majority of the matches, with one upset occurring in the men's singles play when Dave Hughes of the C.P.R. Club, Victoria, the defending titleholder, fell before the steady play of W. J. McAllan of Victoria, Club 16-4. Hughes was extended in his preliminary round match against Jack Davis of Victoria West, winning 15-13. A Macartney, holder of the Peace Cup, and another favorite for this event, won his match with ease from E. McQueen of North Vancouver, 15-3. All players will complete their second round matches to-day in this event.

RINKS COMPETITION
In the women's rink, Mrs. Stewart's team and Mrs. Pae's team each with three wins, are in the lead, while many rinks compiled two wins and one loss.

With Professor Tabacco and Able Corrie, both making their initial appearances on the programme, the operators at tomorrow evening's charity league ball game between Cox's Army and the Ice Dogs are promised some first class entertainment. The teams will go into action at Beacon Hill at the regular time of 8:15 o'clock and another big crowd is looked for.

General Bill Cox stated this morning he was giving out no advance information on the comedy arrangements for to-morrow night. "Come out and see for yourself," he replied when questioned about the act his boys would put on. However, the fans can be certain of getting plenty of laughs. It is understood the Ice Dogs will bring up some comedy of their own.

An added attraction will be a slow motion wrestling act between George "Beetle" West and the Masked Marvel. The pair have been rehearsing the number for some time, and according to advance reports it is good.

ALBANY WINS DOUBLE BILL

Surprise Team of International Baseball League Trounces Toronto Twice

Wherever they may wind up to the final standings, Albany Senators definitely have clinched their right to be known as the surprise club of the International League.

Senators trounced Toronto in both ends of a double bill yesterday and now trail the Leafs by only four games. They gained an easy 5 to 2 victory in the opener but they had to fight hard to win the second contest, 3 to 1.

Newark edged out Buffalo Bisons, 6 to 5, to boost its lead over idle Rochester Red Wings, second-place holders, to five and a half games. Two hits and eleven passes off four Syracuse hurlers gave Montreal Royals an 11 to 7 triumph and enabled them to regain sole possession of fifth place.

Tennis Sectionals Feature First Day

Mel Dranga Walks Over Wayne Sabin 6-4, 6-1, 6-1; Brawn and Milne in Close Victory at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club; B.C. Championships Under Way

When his opponent's game failed to hold together on the grass courts, Mel Dranga, Seattle's net threat, won an impressively comfortable victory over Wayne Sabin, classy Portland junior, in a quarter-final match of the scheduled P.N.W. sectionals at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday afternoon.

This match was expected to be the feature of the first day's play in the sectionals and the B.C. tennis championships, but several other matches drew more and more attention to itself as it progressed to five sets. The B.C. finals saw the Vancouver L.T.C. team of Jack Brawn and Colin Milne eliminate the Jericho team of Doug Cameron and Ron Sidaway, 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. They will play Rosemary and Lee, Seattle, in the sectional doubles final. The Seattle pair eliminated the Victoria team of Mel Williams and Corfield after some good play, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

In the B.C. championships, there were practically no surprises, though several matches produced some interesting tennis.

Tale Coulthard, Berkeley star, had quite a tussle with Rock Robertson, now of Vancouver, before knocking out in the third set to win at 6-4, 6-1, 6-0. Bob Underwood, Los Angeles junior, gave the spectators some flashy tennis, eliminating Doug Williams, one of Vancouver's "upper ten," by scores of 6-4 and 6-4. Reg. Corfield, Victoria and Duncan, took the first set off Ron Sidaway, one of Jericho's best, but could not hold his mainline opponent from there on, and lost, 6-10, 6-1, 6-3. Bob Harmon, Oakland, U.S. boy's clay court champion, did not have great trouble with Colin Gamlin, Vancouver public courts titleholder, winning, 6-0, 6-3.

Stan Masie had a marathon with Hugo Raymond, Victoria, tournament chairman, before victory was his, 16-14, 6-4.

Visiting WOMEN STARS
The visiting women players walked over their opponents in most cases, their Canadian opponents, the Phyllis Deacon and Eleanor Young did not appear until to-day. In the matches played by Miss K. Northcott, Los Angeles, and Miss R. B. Wilson, San Francisco, Miss M. Connell, San Francisco; Miss M. Laird, Glendale, and Mrs. G. Meyer, Gross, Berkeley, but could not hold but her opponent after a promising start.

Bob Jones Shoots His Lowest Score

Highlands, N.C., Aug. 7.—Bob Jones today shot his lowest score in the history of the Highlands Country Club golf course, a 68, the lowest eighteen-hole score he ever shot, either in practice or competition.

Jones made only one error in the round, taking three putts on the eighth green for the lone five on his card. He had one double eagle and one hole-in-one.

His score, eight shots under par on a stiff 6,500-yard layout, was a single stroke better than Bob's famous 69 on the East Lake No. 1 course in Atlanta in 1922.

Prince Albert City Reds Defeat Weston United 3 to 2 in Third Game of Final at Winnipeg; Hodgert Suffers Broken Ankle; Deciding Game To-night

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Prince Albert City Reds, far western titlists, yesterday evening defeated Weston United, champions of Manitoba and Thunder Bay, 3 to 2, to even the count in the third game of the series for the soccer championship of western Canada. A fourth game will be played to-day. Weston won the first, 2 to 0. They played to a scoreless tie in the second game Saturday night.

The setback proved costly to Weston. Scarcely ten minutes of the first half had elapsed when Allan Hodgert, brilliant Manitoba center-forward, was carried off the field with a broken ankle. For the remainder of the game his mates carried on playing a man short.

Prince Albert appeared to have accustomed themselves to the disadvantage and attacked the Weston goal right from the face off. Rodgers, inside left, opened the scoring after thirty minutes of play, sweeping the ball into the net on a pass from Barrie.

Davis, Reds elongated centre forward, registered the second score three minutes later, when he headed the ball past Johnston, Weston goalie, on an assist from Rodgers. Heavy put the Manitobans on the score sheet when he tallied with a free kick just before half-time. Seconds before the whistle blew, Barrie, Red winger, broke away and made it 3 to 1 for Prince Albert with a hard shot from close in.

WESTON SCORES

Two goals in arrears and playing a man short, Weston staged a smart offensive in the second half that yielded a goal after eighteen minutes of play. Eddie Hodgert, Toban inside right, whose cool, constructive play gave Weston victory in the first game of the series, put his team within striking distance of the Reds with a hot drive inside the penalty area.

Weston's attack in the closing minutes of the last half in a vain effort to bring out the equalizer. The Red defence, however, proved just a little too sturdy and the assault broke on the defence, which held a margin on the play until the final whistle.

Eastman, Beard Set Track Marks

Odo, Aug. 7.—Ben Eastman, former Stanford flyer, and Percy Beard, veteran New York hurdler, bettered a world record apiece yesterday in the climax of a two-day international meet.

Eastman, runner in the first game of the series, put his team within striking distance of the Reds with a hot drive inside the penalty area.

Six-day Bike Riders Invade London

The people of London were treated to their first six-day bicycle race recently when some of the cyclists who have been putting on these races in Canada and the United States went for England and Europe. The above picture shows some of the competitors having a trial spin on the track at the Olympia, which, at this particular point, was banked to an angle of 52 degrees. Leading the cyclists is fair-haired Jules Andy, Canada, while next to him is Henri Leprieux, also of Canada. Frank Bartell of the United States is at the top of the bank, while in the background is the whirling figure of Jack Terry, British amateur, who turned pro, to compete in this race.

Swimming Head Against Split

H. E. Herschorn, in Letter Here, Urges Clubs to Avoid Severance From Provincial Section of C.A.S.A.; Further Discussion on Question

"Although the contents of your letter did not surprise me, yet I am greatly concerned about the position of the B.C. Section and would not like to see a split if it is possible to avoid it."

So read a letter from H. E. Herschorn, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, to local swimmers regarding the suggestion advanced by certain Victoria clubs that the city gain a direct affiliation with the Dominion body and sever its affiliation with Vancouver interests representing, to a large extent, the provincial organization.

Some time ago the local faction wrote Mr. Herschorn explaining its stand for severance of connections with the British Columbia body.

"I received a wire during the British Empire trials from Brydon Jack, who recently resigned from the post of provincial secretary, which intimated his resignation along with others. I presume it was on account of Bouslier, who, by the way, did not make as good a showing as expected."

WANT REPORTS

"I have asked the acting chairman of the B.C. Section to send me a full report of what took place, but have not heard from him, so I would appreciate it if you would tell me all about it."

"With regard to your proposal I would suggest that the matter be deferred until Mr. Earl, our secretary, returns from the British Empire Games, when I shall be glad to call a meeting and discuss the question."

It is a matter that could only be acted upon at the next annual meeting.

With regard to the fees if each club became directly affiliated it would cost $10-$15 for the annual affiliation fee and $5 for the annual assessment for the Olympic Fund. If a section was formed the annual fee for affiliation would be $10 and $25 each year for the Olympic Fund.

It was expected the members of the Vancouver Island Swimming League would meet shortly to discuss the letter and further consider their stand for or against continuance of provincial affiliation.

In the meantime provincial authorities were going ahead with plans for the holding of an important meeting at the Austin Hotel, Vancouver, at 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening.

At that meeting a president, secretary and treasurer for the balance of the 1934-35 term will be elected. Victoria is asked to have its representative present.

MUSGRAVE IN GREAT FORM

Allows Three Hits as Sons Wallop Tillicums 10 to 0 in Senior Baseball

Featured by Tommy Musgrave's three-hit pitching performance the league leading Sons of Canada blanked the Tillicums 10 to 0 in a seven inning Senior Baseball League game at the Athletic Park yesterday evening.

Musgrave showed his best form this season to strike out seven. The Sons found little trouble with hurling of Art Carr, making ten hits for as many runs. After taking an early lead, the league pace setters gradually increased their margin. The game was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness.

Smacking out three hits in four times at bat, Noel Morgan, first sacker of the Sons, led the hitters for the evening.
